WINNING THE HEATS OF TWO MILES.

RECLARE FIRST IN THE EQUINOCTIAL STAKES. The famous september storm of 1889 spoiled the second week of the autumn meeting of the Coney Island Jockey Club. Mr. Lawrence, Mr. Bradford and their colleagues of the executive committee had prepared a tempting list of rich prizes and enticing tests, and if the weather had been favorable doubtless the racing of the week just closed would have ranked with the best in the history of the club. But the floods descended and the winds blew all the week, cutting down the expected attendance fully 75 per cent, and reducing the size and importance of the fields in the various stakes. America's race-going Be sure to get Hood's Sarsaparilia. public has become so fastidious because of the superbundance of racing during the five months from May 15 to October 15 that it will not turn out in great numbers unless the weather is luxurious, the sport samptuous, the transportation prompt and comfortable, and every provision for entertainment at the track of a liberal and ingenious sort. The last day of the meeting passed off rather quietly with a gather-ing of spectators much smaller than has been customary at this popular track on Saturdays, but still of consolatory proportions. A gentle breeze was blowing at the course, which made the afternoon hours there much more agreeable than they were in the hot, humid, close and sticky city. Few of the bookmakers amassed much wealth, for all the winners were heavily backed, and each one of the five was either first or second choice in the betting.

A sore hand prevented the renowned Hamilton from riding, and gave his dusky little imitator "Spider" Anderson a chance to aid to his reputation by riding two winners, to add to in the selling race King Crab in the mile and a furlong. Prodigal was "real jam," as the phrase goes, for all Brighton Beach and its army of followers. They dug their grimy hands down deep into the pockets of the bookmakers, and did not withdraw them until they had heaped them with greenbacks bearing in the corners many broad-shouldered and round-bellied Brighton Beach and all its camp followers not only won on Prodigal and King Crab, but also on Reclare and Tea Tray, In truth, it was one of the best days of the year for the troops that always shout lustily when they carry of the spoils of the millionaires and the club men. At least that is the way in which they look at it. If representatives of the so-called "fashionable" and aristocratic" stables are defeated by the pet racers of *the minor tracks, great is the rejoicing in the barrooms of New-York, Brooklyn and neighboring cities, from which, naturally, these smaller tracks draw most of their supporters. But the colors of the chief capitalists of the turf were not conspicuous vesterday.

Lord Dalmeny, the property of Mr. Belmont, and Starlight, the property of Mr. Morris, were the only starters, whose owners could get a check for million dollars certified at the Chemical Bank. The reason why the great stables answered so scantlly and meagrely to the strong appeals put forth by the purses and the added money to the stakes, was the bad weather of the week and the condition of the track with the inevitable ill effects on the horses. Mr. Belmont was present, but suffered the disappoint-ment of seeing Lord Dalmeny a poor third in the Equinoctial Stakes, while Mr. Morris's Starlight was a worse fourth. Starlight looked so thin, so drawn, so bacgard and forlorn, that it seemed a pity to start ber. Reciare, ridden by Barnes, won the Equinoctial in a canter, while Green B. Morris's Jersey Pat, looking as lusty, as round and as rosy as a bright chestnut colt can possibly look (the faint rose flush in the golden glory of perfect champagne), was an easy

The Haggins are still in California. Senator Hearst yet limps with rhoumatism and did not come. Millionaires' row was thinly tenanted, but Mr. Belmont and Mr. Withers still held the fort, and with grave faces discussed the grief-inspiring causes that checked the winning by their stables of a larger share of the great stakes in these autumn days. But number of handsome, agile, well-groomed, theroughbrei-looking would-be millionaires who were present—members of the Coney Island Jockey Club and their friends—was tantalizing to their feminine admirers. A list of them might be given here, with their names, ages, worldly possessions, stature, com-plexions and various attractive qualities, accompanied by information as to those that are married and those that are unmarried, but such a list might prove too fascinating a study to the fair and gentle readers of this column, and after all a racing article is not a bureau for the promotion of matrimony.

Joe Lee, ridden by Barnes, carried mountains of money in the second race, but appeared to have no speed, and was not even able to get the place. This a deep, dark, mystery, for Joe Lee's "best His that of a frog or a has always been in profound The colt looked well when he came on the truck, but in the race he moved with no freedom or elasticity, and King Crab " won in a trot," to use the favorite expression of the accompanion and anosteur furi critic, Cocil Clay, in characterizing an amateur fundertiet, clear conjugate as finish.

After Reclare had cantered off with the Equinoctial, Cartoon was made the favorite for the handkap at a mile and a quarier, with Come-to-Taw a strong second choice. It was a case of stayer against sprinter. Cartoon could not stay and Come-to-Taw came home alone. Yet it mignibe remarked in Cath and Asketon, even if it is not safe to say so in New-York, that Cartoon's jockey did not work so hard as to be in any danger of dropping dead of exhaustion or sunstroke.

Taylor rode Tea Tray and Hamilton's absence from the saddle on that often perverse brute made the heavy speculators fasten their faith to St. Luke, ridden by the energetic Garrison, for the heats of two miles on the grass. Nevertheless, Tea Tray won the race in two straight heats, an appalling distance ahead of St. Luke, although the time was very slow. In fact, Tea Tray ran away from the held in both heats. The time of the first heat was 3:47 and of the second, 3:54. Why, a pair of Broadway car horses, when an anxious old lady on the sidewalk is frantically signalling to a blind driver and an indifferent constuctor, make almost as good time as that down our main thoroughfare. It was a wholly unexpected revelation of St. Luke, and will driver some disappointed students of the records to the monasteries of Mount Athos to decipher early manuscripts. Certainly no good judge of fown had dreamed that St. Luke could be beaten so disgracefully and so far off by Tea Tray has o slow time. Silleck and Lotion can even worse. Uncle William Daly groaned in splict. What a feen, sharp owner and trainer William Lakeland is! How apily and shrewdly he handles his small stable, and how he digs the nuggets out of it! Extended the tray and Tattier! Never did three horses of no more intrinse merit of their own, of no higher class, win so much money for an owner!

SECOND ANNUAL CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES OF THE UNION-THE WINNERS.

The second annual championship games of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States were held yesterday afternoon on the grounds of the Newmion were well represented, and each delegation gave thing but defeat. vent to its peculiar war-whoop whenever its favorites bore off the palm of victory. The entries were numerous, and embraced members of clubs from such far-away places as Detroit, Chicago, Halifax, Nova Scotla, and England. It was such a gathering of amateur athletes as is worth going miles to see. The grounds were necessarily in far from a perfect con-dition, which prevented the breaking of any records; but neither the track nor the field were as terribly bad as might be expected, considering the severe drenching to which they have been subjected. Good records were made in most of the contests, and everybody was satisfied with the day's sport, except, possibly, the vanquished. Rain fell at intervals during the progress of the games, but not heavily enough seriously to interfere with them.

The field officers were John F. Huneker, Athletic

THE THREE-MILE WALK.

The three-mile walk was a victory for C. L. Nicoll. Manhattan A. C.: second, E. D. Lange, of the same club; third, C. Wulf, Pastine A. C.; winner's time, 23 minutes 33 2.5 seconds. W. L. stubborn up-hill athletic work. W. C. Dohm, New-York A. C., fell at the start, made a couple of somersoults and succeeded in regaining his feet only when all his competitors were past him. Nevertheless, he started in with grim determination and had passed by the all but one runner, when the extraordinary strain overcame him and he fainted near the finish, staggering across the line a winner of third prize. R. A. Ward, Detroit A. C., was first in 2 minutes 6 seconds; W. C. Downes, New-York A. C., second.

The first heat of the 220-yards hurdle race was won by A. F. Copeland, Manhattan A. C., in 28 3-5 seconds; E. Lentilhon, New-York A. C., second. The second heat went to A. Brown, Pastime A. The mallet has been held by the New-Reanswick Club for two years. Next Saturday has been fixed upon for the centest between Messes. Germond and Jacobus. Yesterday's games are the last championship matches the Gianes will play on home grounds this year, and the players will start on their last tour to-morrow morning, carrying the best wishes of every baseball enthusiast in the city. Over 8,000 people went to the Pole Grounds to witness the two games, and the applause was continuous throughout.

The first game was a stirring one, the excitement being tremendous throughout. Both teams played desperately, their long rest having infused them with new life. The Giants made their hits count, and eventually won.

Welch pitched a steady game throughout, never losing control of the ball for an instant. The one run made by Chicago was largely due to Ewing's blunders. Hutchison, Yale's former great pitcher, did good work for Chicago, but hardly as good as that of Welch. Richardson's batting materially assisted in securing two of the three runs scored by the Glants. The score:

Dark and lowering clouds obscured the sky as the scond game was started, and few of the 8,045 spectators expected to see the nine innings played out. The only change made in the teams was in the batteries, Reefe and Brown going in for New-York and Dwyer and Darling for Chicago. Keefe was hardly himself in the opening inning, and assisted by Brown's wild throwing, Chicago scored two runs and took the lead.

Then the Giants settled down to hard work, and such ball playing has seldom been seen on the green diamond field. Then in the sixth inning the local men had another batting streak, and a hit by Ward, followed by two-baggers by Richardson and O'Rourke, added two more runs to New-York's list. A heavy shower of rain fell, and the game was delayed nearly fifteen minutes. Only one more liming was played, when darkness stopped further play. In this last inning Anson got a home run hit on a drive which would usually count for only two bases. The ball landed on the embankment, and the rain had made the slope so slippery that Gore could not climb up and get the ball. The score was as follows:

BOSTON WON AND LOST.

Boston, Sept. 14.-The Bostons and Clevelands divided henors to-day, each winning one game. In the first game the fielding of the visitors was exercible, and this, aided by the Bostons' lively stick work, gave the latter an easy victory. In the sec end game the Clevelands played a faultless fielding game and bunched their hits. Boston made a larger number of hits, but only one to an inning. The fielding of Nash, Quinn, Smith, McKean, Stricker and Tebeau was the feature of the games. In the third inning of the second game Capiain Faatz was fined $75 and ordered from the field for continued abuse of Umpire Curry, and Tebeau was fined $60. The trouble arose over a double play. Attendance, 6,087. The score of the first game was:

The Hoosiers won the second game in the ninth inning, scoring three runs, to which they contributed only one base hit. · Washington, Sept. 14.-The weather cleared sufficiently to permit the Washington and Pittsburg teams to play to-day, although the grounds were in bad condition. Considering the soggy turf, the fielding on both sides was good, and the batting heavy. Keefe was wild and at times had no contre! over the ball, but Daly supported him well. Wise batted the ball over the right field fence, with two men on bases. The score was:

THE TEEMER-GAUDAUR RACE A DRAW.

GAUDAUR'S BACKER REFUSES TO LET HIS MAN ROW AGAIN-ALL BETS OFF.

Pittsburg, Sept. 14.—John Pringle, referee in the Gaudaur-Teemer boat race, decided this afternoon that yesterday's race was a draw, and ordered the men to row over again next Monday, on the Wood's Run course, in the Ohio River, Gaudaur's backer positively refused to agree to this, and the two men were then conducted to the office of the final stakeholder, where the money of each was returned to him. Teemer offered to increase the stake $500 and row again within ten days at Wood's Run, or on any ourse in New-York, lake or river, but Gaudaur's backer still persisted in refusing. The referee, in giving his decision, stated that there was no foul, but that Hamm had violated the articles of agreement in pulling in front of Teemer, and that he had no husiness on the course at all. The referee stated that he had beard Hamm say last evening that he had that he had heard Hamm say last evening that he had gone in front of the two men to keep Gaudaur from running into snags, and this, the referce decided, was interference under the rules governing the race. Gaudaur created something of a sensation by alleging that he had been drugged before the race, but his condition yesterday did not indicate that he was unwell. Under the referee's decision all bets are off.

THE ORBIT OF ASTEROID NO. 287. THE ORBIT OF ASLEADED NO. 281.
Utica, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Professor C. H. F. Peters, of Litchfield Observatory, Hamilton College, discovered a new asteroid (No. 287) on August 25.
The first computations appeared to show an unprecedented fact in astronomy, that a portion of the new asteroid's orbit was within a portion of the orbit of Mars. All asteroids heretofore discovered have all their orbits outside that of Mars. Professor Peters is now engaged on a second computa-tion, and he is of the opinion that it may show that the asteroid had an orbit entirely outside that of Mars, although it is undoubtedly the nearest asteroid to the sun yet discovered.

They adopted resolutions favoring eight hours for a day's work and against patronizing the free beer of Cincinnati, Milwaukee and St. Louis. The next meeting will be held in St. Louis in 1891.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM F. LADD.

has been a familiar figure in Wall-st. for half a century, died yesterday at his home in West Thirtysixth-st., from hemorrhage of the brain, age eightytwo years. He had been suffering more or less for about three months with rheumatic gout, but had almost recovered, and his nurse was about to leave him, when he suddenly became worse on Friday evening and sank rapidly, as the brain was suffused from the broken artery.

Mr. Ladd was born in Devonshire, England, and came to this country with his elder brother, James, a chronometer-maker, when fouriesn years old. He learned his brother's trade, and opened a place of his own in Wall-st, when twenty years old. He became a member of the New-York Stock Exchange in its infancy, and has long been known by the correct time, known as "Ladd's 2:15 time," furnished to the Exchange. He was a large man, of commanding presence, who would attract attention anywhere, and that he was expected to continue his activity for some years yet.

He was one of the founders of the Mechanics and Traders' Library, and was the means of placing the books of that fine institution in the hands of many poor young people throughout his life. At one time recently some of the managers went to him, and said that it might not be safe to sign the certificates to so many unknown persons to obtain books. " Have you lost any books ?" asked Mr. Ladd. No, but how do you know that all these people are honest?" asked one of the managers,

"Well, whenever I see a boy with bright eyes and instance was he deceived.

Mr. Laid had nine children, but only one survives him. This is his son George, who has charge of the business, and with whom the old gentleman has lived since the death of his wife, two years ago. Many telegrams were received by the family last evening from members of the Stock Exchange and others, expressing their sorrow.
